Jishe Feng

Abstract

In this paper, we studied a generalization of the Fibonacci sequence in which rabbits become mature h months after their birth and die k months after they have matured. We give a general recurrence relation for these sequences. By using a companion matrix and generating matrix, we derive two classes of identities for the generalized Fibonacci numbers.