Andrew V. Sills

Abstract

A bijective proof is given for the following theorem: the number of compositions of $n$ into odd parts equals the number of compositions of $n+1$ into parts greater than one. Some commentary about the history of partitions and compositions is provided.